

Essex Community Messaging

Keep informed about the policing and community safety issues which affect you

ECM informs your communities about policing and community safety issues affecting them.

Two-way communication means we receive information back from our communities.

You can sign up, too, and find out what your community is thinking.

Anyone can sign up for free and receive accurate and up-to-date community safety information and crime prevention advice.

All users can choose to receive these messages via email, text or voice-recording and select what information to receive – based on where they live and work or on issues of interest.

Visit www.essex.police.uk/ecm to sign up and to find out more.
