

How can Tenant Management Organisations benefit my community?

The National Federation of Tenant Management Organisations

This model supports tenant management companies who have taken over the management of their local housing stock. The main principles behind this model is democratic decision making and affordability.

The NFTMO is a national body representing tenant management co-op estate boards and other organisations that have formed tenant led management housing companies.

The main focus of this organisation is to support tenant led organisations by empowering boards and committees to meet excellent standards in governance and their business models.

On-line tools have been developed to support this work with regular training events and publications as well as introducing the 'Kite Mark' accreditation scheme.
